

Delaware's Mispillion River and Cedar Creek Watersheds Vital for Wildlife, Local Economy

Internationally recognized flyway—one of world's most productive horseshoe crab spawning areas—faces challenges

- Mispillion River and Cedar Creek watersheds
- Developed land
- Delaware state lands
- Agricultural and forest lands preservation
- Federal lands

Sources: FirstMap@De, "Delaware Public Protected Lands" (2019), http://firstmap.gis.delaware.gov/arcgis/rest/services/Society/DE_Public_Protected_Lands/FeatureServer; FirstMap@De, "Delaware Forest Land Preservation" (2019), https://firstmap.delaware.gov/arcgis/rest/services/PlanningCadastre/DE_AgLandsPreservation/FeatureServer/1; FirstMap@De, "Delaware Ag Lands Preservation" (2019), http://firstmap.gis.delaware.gov/arcgis/rest/services/PlanningCadastre/DE_AgLandsPreservation/FeatureServer/2; FirstMap@De, "Delaware 2017 Land Use Land Cover" (2017), https://enterprise.firstmap.delaware.gov/arcgis/rest/services/PlanningCadastre/DE_LULC_2017_Condensed/FeatureServer